Parliament Winter Session from Nov. 25

New Delhi, Nov. 10 (Agencies)- The Winter Session of the Parliament will commence on Nov. 25 and will continue till Dec. 20, sources said.

Significantly, during the Winter Session, a raging discussion supposedly to be around the 'One Nation, One Election' proposal and Waqf (Amendment) Bill, 2024, will be held.

Earlier, Home Minister Amit Shah, speaking on the Waqf (Amendment) Bill, 2024, mentioned that the Bill will be passed during Parliament's Winter Session.

Speaking at a poll-bound rally in the Badshahpur area of Gurgaon, Shah remarked, "Waqf Board law... we will fix it in the next session of Parliament."

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

WHY FAVOUR ONE WHEN NEUTRALITY WINS: Just as maya, illusory power of Brahmn, creates the illusion that the world is real, and one way to break free from its stranglehold is to develop a witness consciousness, in the same way, to remain unaffected by polarising opinions, individuals must cultivate equanimity by observing neutrality towards all ideologies, especially during an election season. This applies not only to spiritually inclined people but also to journalists and media organisations, as it is their dharm to report facts impartially, just like it is Arjun's dharm as a warrior to fight in the Mahabharat.

The Gita says, just as the wind carries away a boat upon waters, similarly, that to which the mind is attached takes away one's discrimination. Krishn explains that the wise look with equanimity upon all, whether it be a brahmin endowed with learning and culture, a cow, elephant, dog and a pariah, too.

Indian schools of thought provide a contextual framework for detachment, dispassion, and even-handedness that fosters a state of mind beyond the duality of likes and dislikes. The very definition of yog, one of the six systems of Indic philosophy according to Patanjali's Yog Sutras, is 'Yoga chitta vritti nirodh,' the cessation of vrittis of the mind. When the mind is calm, a yogi is free from modifications of mind born out of his likes and dislikes.

Academic distance and neutrality are deeply entrenched in various Indic scriptures. In the Yog Vasisht, Ram emphasises neutrality towards life and death by declaring, "I do not want to live, and I do not want to die." Sant Kabir encapsulates the essence of detachment in his doha: "Kabira teri jhopri gal katiyan ke paas. Jo karenge so bharenge tu kyon bhayo udaas," — O Kabir! Your hut is next to butchers' bay. Why do you feel down? For their conduct, they alone shall pay.

A spiritually mature individual is above all worldly pleasures and identifications, for he does not align with any school of thought or indulge in art, food, music, or technology, and practises loving detachment even when surrounded by a loving family. He is a post-culture, post-food, post-art and post-music being, established in the Self.

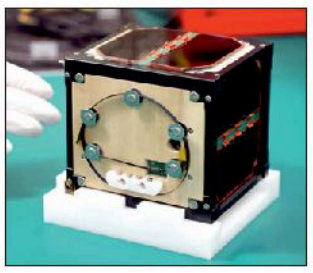
World's largest collection of energy drink cans

Island: A Rhode Island man with a passion for caffeine earned a Guinness World Record for his collection of 1,019 energy drink cans. Tiverton resident Joel Spears, aka Caffeine-Man on YouTube, submitted evidence of collection to the record-keeping organization in January, and he announced this week that has finally received official confirmation that he possesses the world's largest collection of energy drink cans.

"I never thought I would have a Guinness World Record for anything," he told WJAR-TV. "The channel started being successful and I just kept collecting cans, and at one point, I said, 'I wonder how many I have.' Counted them all up and it ended up being a world record."

Spears started his YouTube channel to review energy drinks about six years ago.

First wooden satellite launched into space



Japan: The world's first wooden satellite has blasted off on a SpaceX rocket, its Japanese developers said Tuesday, part of a resupply mission to the International Space Station.

Scientists at Kyoto University expect the wooden material to burn up when the device re-enters the atmosphere — potentially providing a way to avoid generating metal particles when a retired satellite returns to Earth. These particles may negatively impact both the environment and telecommunications, the developers say.

Each side of the box-like experimental satellite, named LignoSat, measures just 10 centimetres (four inches). It was launched on an unmanned rocket from NASA's Kennedy Space Centre in Florida, Kyoto University's Human Spaceology Centre said. The satellite, installed in a special container prepared by the Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency, "flew into space safely", it said in a post on X.

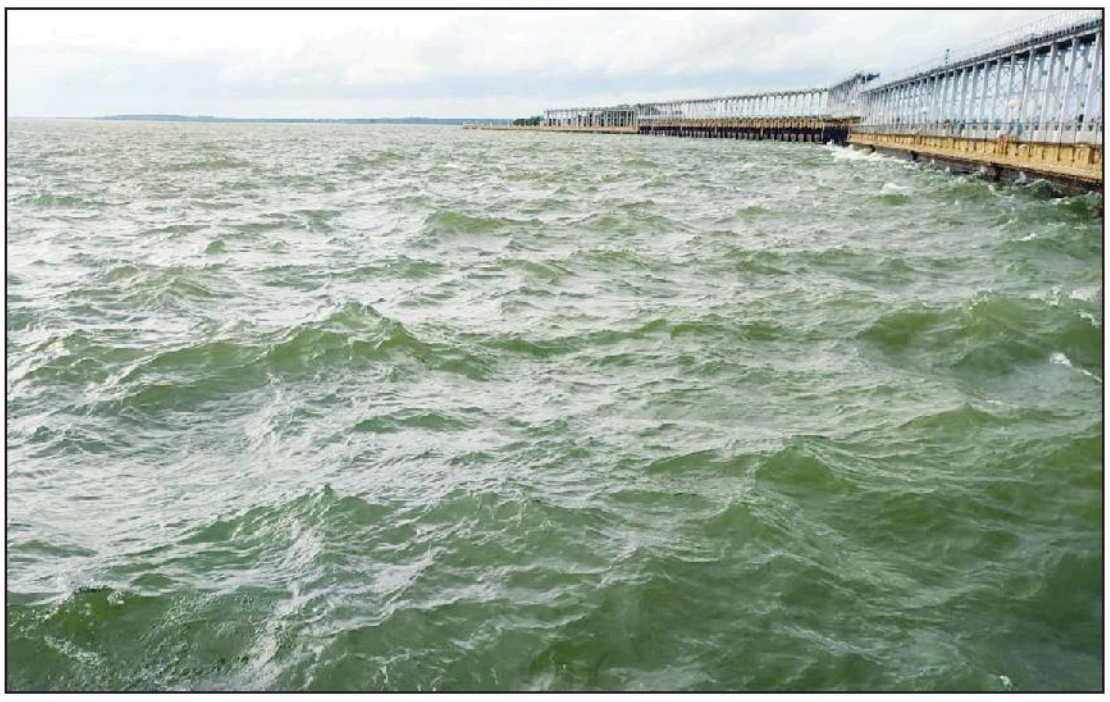
KRS Dam full for 60 days in a row



Mysuru, Nov. 10 (AG&BCT)- The Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam in Srirangapatna taluk, Mandya district, has maintained a maximum water level of 124.80 feet from Sept. 11, 2024, to Nov. 10 — an impressive 60-day stretch — according to data from the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre.

This sustained high level is positive news, ensuring that Mysuru-Mandya and Bengaluru regions are unlikely to face a water shortage, even if 2025 South-West Monsoon arrives late. Additionally, farmers in Srirangapatna and Mandya regions will continue receiving water for irrigation without any break.

Engineers from the Cauvery Neeravari Nigama Limited (CNNL), who manage the Dam, informed Star of Mysore that since Chief Minister Siddaramaiah offered Bagina at KRS Dam on July 29, the water level has consistently remained at its peak for 104 days.

"We cannot report 100 percent storage capacity because, during the monsoon and other rainy periods, we need to maintain a flood cushion of one to one-and-a-half feet to accommodate incoming water from the catchment areas," an Engineer from CNNL explained.

MUDA 50:50 ratio site scam

25 sites granted for layout developed in 1962: MLA

Srivatsa

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (BCT)- A list of beneficiaries who received sites under the 50:50 ratio scheme by the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) has emerged, revealing that around 300 individuals were arbitrarily allotted sites of various dimensions.

Krishnaraja MLA T.S. Srivatsa has accused MUDA of irregularities in the site distribution process. He pointed out that Abdul Wajid, a beneficiary, was granted 25 sites as compensatory sites under the 50:50 ratio. Wajid's family land was acquired by the then City Improvement Trust Board (CITB) in 1962 for a layout project.

However, it is alleged that layout was developed without proper legal acquisition of the land, prompting Wajid to file a compensation request with MUDA in December 2022, 61 years later. The MLA noted that in February 2023, just two months after the application was submitted, the MUDA Commissioner approved the allotment of 25 sites.

Similarly, other beneficiaries were allotted multiple sites: 21 to Syed Yusuf, 19 to Mallappa, 17 to S.V. Venkatappa, 16 to Devamma, 12 each to Mahadevu and Geetha, 11 to Sureshamma, 10 to Vairamudi, and 7 to Choudaiah.

While Government orders state that the 50:50 ratio does not apply to layouts developed before 2009, this case, dating back to 1962, contradicts those rules. Srivatsa further revealed that during a MUDA meeting, officials admitted that several files related to the case were missing.

"During the recent MUDA Board meeting, officials confessed that some important documents are missing. An immediate investigation is needed to uncover the truth," he said.

Srivatsa also urged authorities not to approve construction plans for sites allocated under the 50:50 scheme. "I will soon send a letter to the officials on this matter," he added, also calling for a halt on any sales of these controversial sites.

Problem of plenty: Three bus shelters in one spot!

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (BLU & BCT)- While citizens have long demanded proper bus shelters at various spots in Mysuru, the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway, particularly opposite St. Philomena's College, now hosts three bus shelters at the same location.

Residents are questioning the logic behind this overcrowding of bus shelters, raising concerns over the apparent waste of resources. Until recently, there were two shelters at the spot, but a new third one has been added, and across the road, another shelter has been constructed next to two existing ones.

The three bus shelters next to each other on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway, opposite St. Philomena's College.

"This is gross mismanagement of taxpayer funds. It seems like a potential 'bus shelters scam,' with resources allocated without clear need," said Mubasher Mirza, a Bannimantap resident.

Similar shelters are appearing elsewhere, such as in Vontikoppal near V.V. Puram Police Station and on Temple Road in Jayalakshmipuram near St. Joseph's School.

The rapid rise in bus shelters has prompted residents to question whether such structures are being installed citywide.

Photos show how this cluster detracts from the aesthetic appeal of Mysuru, once known for its organised urban planning and scenic views.

Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) officials explain that the new shelters are part of a public-private partnership, with contractors financing the shelters and earning revenue through advertisements, a portion of which is shared with the MCC.

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (SBD&BS)- Adichunchanagiri Mutt Seer Dr. Sri Balagangadharanatha Swamiji sang paeans of previous pontiff Sri Balagangadharanatha Swamiji and Rashtrakavi Kuvempu.

The seer was addressing the gathering at a programme organised in commemoration of Balagangadharanatha Swamiji and Rashtrakavi Kuvempu's jayanthi, organised by Vokkaliga Yuva Brigade at Senate Bhavan, Manasagangothri, in city yesterday.

"One who wanted to achieve in the field of Science became a sanyasi, while another who wanted to be a sanyasi evolved as a great littérateur," said Nirmalanandanatha Swamiji, referring to Balagangadharanatha Swamiji and Kuvempu respectively.

Balagangadharanatha Swamiji, who had enrolled into degree course at the Government Science College, Bengaluru, with a strong desire to achieve in the field of Science, had to veer towards the call of his conscience. Similarly, Kuvempu who was associated with Sri Ramakrishna Ashram since his student days and also later, wanted to be a sanyasi, but became a philosophical writer, recalled Sri Nirmalanandanatha Swamiji.

Nobel for Kuvempu

Earlier, former Deputy Chief Minister Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan, who inaugurated the programme credited Balagangadharanatha Swamiji, for uniting the community that had scattered across the globe as a force to reckon with.

Ashwathnarayan raised the pitch demanding Nobel Prize for the contributions of Kuvempu towards the enrichment of literature.

Mobile phone addiction

High Court Justice H.P. Sandesh, who also spoke on the occasion, advised the youths to make judicious use of mobile phone to acquire knowledge, rather than wasting life by getting addicted to the device.

"One should have a quest for knowledge and should be aware of how to shape life. Lakshmi, the Goddess, who symbolises wealth follows Saraswathi, the Goddess, who symbolises knowledge. We should imbibe five values — discipline, hard work, time sense, confidence and courage — and become an asset to the country," said Justice Sandesh, in his call to the youngsters.

Ganga rulers' contributions

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar recalled the contributions of erstwhile Ganga rulers belonging to Vokkaliga community, to Mysore province, which later came to be known as Karnataka. Most of the temples in this part of the State were built during the rule of Ganga kings, following the consecration of idols by rishis and munis after completing their penance.

Kuvempu's daughter Tarini and son-in-law, former Vice-Chancellor Dr. K. Chidananda Gowda were felicitated, along with IAS officer of Madhya Pradesh cadre Dr. Nagarjun B. Gowda, Indian Revenue Service (IRS) Officer P.V. Bhyrappa, N. Bhavyashree, who is in the service of Armed Forces Headquarters and IPS Officer Varun K. Gowda.

The posters of 50 free knee replacement surgery organised in association with Dr. T.N. Balakrishna Gowda's Avant BKG Hospital was released on the occasion.

Adichunchanagiri Mysuru branch Seer Sri Somanatha Swamiji, Chairman of Cauvery Hospital Dr. Chandrashekar, Regional Director, Staff Selection Commission (SSC), Southern Region K. Nagaraj, SP of Internal Security Division (ISD) Dr. A.N. Prakash Gowda, journalist M.R. Sathyanarayan, Founder-President of Vokkaliga Yuva Brigade and NRI Vokkaliga Brigade Nanjegowda Nanjunda were present.

Establishment of peace in Palestine; organisations stage protest in city

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (MTY&KS)- Opposing war and demanding establishment of peace in Palestine, members of Liberation Left Parties Joint Committee stage a protest at Gandhi Square in city yesterday.

Demanding Israel to stop war and Palestine be made as an independent country, the protestors said that it was the British which established Israel for the Jews in 1948 which was earlier a land for Arabs.

Pointing out that the Modi Government was supporting Israel, the protestors said that the Modi Government was changing the historic resolution supported by Palestine and demanded the war by Israel on Palestine be stopped immediately.

CPI (M) District Secretary Jagadish Surya, N. Vijay Kumar, J. Jayaram, Jagannath, CPI National Board Member H.R. Sheshadri, Devadas, Belavatha Raju, D. Jagannath, CPI (ML) Liberation District Secretary Javaraiah, leaders Noor Merchant, Mehboob, Subramanya, Rajendra and others were present.

Two go missing from city

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (KS)- In separate incidents, two persons have gone missing from Hebbal Police limits in city.

In the first case, K.S. Mohan Kumar, has gone missing since June 10 in city.

Mohan is aged about 33 years, 5.6 ft. tall, round faced, normal built, oily red complexioned, has a tattoo of a dog on his left hand, speaks Kannada, Hindi and English and was wearing a saffron coloured T-Shirt and black pant.

In the second incident, 40-year-old Raghu has gone missing since Aug. 9 in city. Rail Coach Restaurant: Plea to change location

Sir,

I am writing to express my concern regarding the proposed Rail Coach Restaurant at Vivekananda Park, opposite Vontikoppal Police Station (as reported in SOM on Nov. 7). Although the concept of a unique dining experience is appealing, the practical implications of this location are worrisome.

This intersection is already known for severe traffic congestion and the absence of dedicated parking for the restaurant will likely worsen the situation. Visitors may be forced to park along the roadside, leading to increased traffic chaos and potential safety hazards for pedestrians.

I urge the Railway authorities to reconsider this proposal and identify alternative locations that can better accommodate the anticipated foot traffic and parking demands.

Coffee Board's plans to enhance coffee bean quality revealed

145th Annual General Meeting of the Coorg Planters' Association held in Madikeri

Coffee Board CEO and Secretary Dr. K.G. Jagadeesh seen lighting the lamp to inaugurate the 145th Annual General Meeting of Coorg Planters' Association in Madikeri recently as others look on.

Madikeri, Nov. 10 (PS&BCT)- The Coffee Board has launched an ambitious initiative to elevate coffee quality across regions by forming community farmer groups at the hobli (village cluster) level. This initiative, announced by Coffee Board CEO and Secretary Dr. K.G. Jagadeesh during the 145th Annual General Meeting of the Coorg Planters' Association in Madikeri recently, aims to gather insights into coffee quality and apply targeted improvements.

Dr. Jagadeesh highlighted that prioritising quality will ensure a robust future for Indian coffee. Under the initiative, community groups of 100 farmers will be established in each hobli, where collected coffee bean samples will undergo laboratory analysis to determine quality.

Should quality fall short, Coffee Board experts will provide growers with specific guidance on improvement measures, helping them achieve standards that could command higher prices in the international market.

In an effort to attract young talent to coffee farming, the Board also introduced a two-year Coffee Cultivation Diploma. Open to those who have completed the 10th Standard, the diploma programme offers formal training in cultivation and plantation management, addressing the current shortfall of trained supervisory and managerial staff in the industry.

Recognising the expanding demand for skilled café staff, the Board announced plans to offer Barista training for women, youth and enthusiasts. As an estimated 3,000 new coffee cafes are expected to open across India next year, this training will equip individuals to serve plantation visitors and tourists with high-quality coffee.

Tata Coffee Managing Director P.A. Mandanna stressed the importance of sustainable coffee farming, urging growers to embrace environmental, economic and social responsibility. He shared that Tata Coffee has implemented eco-friendly pulpers and rainwater harvesting systems across its estates, which has improved soil fertility and raised groundwater levels.

Experts, including Dr. Raja Vijay Kumar, British agricultural specialist Mark Trisney and K. Sudhindra offered practical demonstrations on various coffee cultivation techniques, providing valuable insights to growers.

Coorg Planters' Association President A. Nanda Belliappa said that the Association continues to provide essential information to farmers and has actively raised their concerns with the Government.

Other prominent attendees included Association Secretary C.K. Belliappa, Vice-President A.A. Chengappa, Karnataka Coffee Planters' Association President K.G. Rajeev Ganapathy, former Coffee Board Vice-Presidents N. Bose Mandanna and B.D. Manjunath, among other industry leaders.

The meeting also featured an exhibition and sale of agricultural equipment, drawing significant interest from participants.

This initiative marks a pivotal step by the Coffee Board and industry leaders in strengthening quality and sustainability in Indian coffee farming, aiming to bolster India's position in the global coffee market.

Cry, my beloved country

'Amaran' movie musings

A scene from the Tamil movie 'Amaran.'

In this world of wild social media, the word of mouth too has much power to convince a person about what is good, bad or ugly. For the last one week I was being asked by a couple of my cinema-addict friends to go and see a Tamil film by name 'Amaran.' They were persuasive. I said I do not know Tamil. They said, there is english sub-title. So, I landed in DRC Cinemas.

It is a real to reel story. A biographical love and war drama based on a Hindu Major Mukund Varadarajan, a Tamilian married to Malayali Christian girl. A love story. Also, a war story. Story of Rashtriya Rifles fighting the terrorists in Kashmir.

The film narrates Mukund's life's journey starting from his student days at Madras Christian College and falling in love with a girl, his future wife Indhu Rebecca Varghese, joining Indian army, resolving initial vehement resistance for the marriage from both the families, getting married, separation due to call of duty, begetting a baby girl, happy reunion on leave and life goes on. He also rises in rank as Major, had even a foreign posting as part of UN Mission in Lebanon which is shown in the film for a fleeting second.

Then the turning point. He was deputed from his parent 22 Rajput Unit to the Rashtriya Rifles and posted in the Shopian district of Jammu and Kashmir.

The challenging and tragic drama of his life begins from here at a roller-coaster speed with much blood and gore. With much anxiety back at home for his wife and her family members. The way this scene is depicted on the screen is very moving and disturbing as it is traumatic to his wife who could hear the bang-bang of explosion as her husband's phone remains switched-on but his voice absent.

The long-drawn-out scenes of indiscriminate shooting, explosion with blazing fire was tiring to my ears and eyes. And I slipped into a cat-nap. However, the scene where the news of Major Mukund's death was conveyed to his wife was depicted in a very delicate and imaginative manner with appropriate words and emotions, was heart-rending. It was so moving; tears would naturally come to viewers' eyes.

The film was a message of duty and honour for our country, a message about 'India First' kind of patriotism, a message about inter-religious marriage and then a message about looking after the family and parents. But the country comes first for a soldier.

Since this is a biographical war drama, it would be germane here to give a brief biography of the hero of the film Major Mukund Varadarajan — a great soldier to his country, an affectionate son to his parents, devoted husband to his wife and a loving father to his daughter as shown in the movie.

Major Mukund Varadarajan (see pic) was born on 12 April 1983 (five years after Star of Mysore was born!). He was born in Avadi, Chennai, Tamil Nadu to R. Varadarajan, a public sector banker and mother Geetha. It is significant that his grandfather and two of his uncles also served in the army.

In the film, the real names of Maj. Mukund, his wife and child are retained. Mukund secured a degree in commerce and also a diploma in journalism. Well, could be, if he had not become a soldier, he would have become a journalist and lived to see the divisive, dirty politics of our country.

He died in action on 25 April 2014, aged 31 in J&K. If at all an epitaph is to be written in his tomb, it would be most apt to use the one found in Kohima War Cemetery, Nagaland.

It reads:

"When you go home
Tell them of us and say,
For your tomorrow,
We gave our today."

Certainly, Major Mukund Varadarajan gave his today for our tomorrow. And a grateful nation honoured him by posthumously awarding the Ashoka Chakra, India's highest peacetime gallantry award in 2014 "for displaying valour beyond the call of duty" before attaining martyrdom while eliminating three top ranked Hizbul Mujahideen terrorists. His wife received the Ashoka Chakra from President Pranab Mukherjee on 26 January 2015, Republic Day.

Equally befitting honour is the bust of Major Mukund Varadarajan displayed at the Officers Training Academy. Worth seeing the cinema aptly titled Amaran, the immortal.

Chief Postmaster General (Karnataka Circle) S. Rajendra Kumar will preside.

KRS Dam full for 60 days

From July 29 to Nov. 10, the water level has remained at 124.80 feet — 104 days. Although the Dam authorities have maintained a flood cushion level of 123.50 feet, this still qualifies as a maximum level.

This year, 209 tmcft (thousand million cubic feet) of water has flowed into the KRS Dam, with 170 tmcft released downstream. The KRS Dam can hold 49.452 tmcft. Today, the inflow was recorded at 5,944 cusecs, while the outflow was 5,733 cusecs, with both rates being adjusted to sustain Dam's maximum level.

Farmers in the Srirangapatna and Mandya regions require over 5,000 cusecs of water for irrigation until December. "Since the inflow is currently up to 7,000 cusecs, the excess will be directed towards irrigation. If the inflow drops below 5,000 cusecs, the storage level will gradually decrease, as maintaining the maximum level will no longer be feasible," sources said.

This year marks an exceptional period for the Dam, maintaining a constant maximum capacity of 124.80 feet — a rare occurrence in comparison to previous years. Although previous years witnessed substantial inflow, officials did not sustain the maximum level consistently.

Despite Karnataka releasing more water to Tamil Nadu than mandated by the Supreme Court and the Cauvery Water Management Authority, the KRS Dam has managed to maintain its peak water level.

Rainfall data from Jan. 1, 2024

From June 1 to Sept. 30, Mysuru recorded 475 mm of rainfall, surpassing the normal average of 419 mm. Mandya received 351 mm, higher than the normal 316 mm, while Kodagu recorded 2,400 mm compared to the usual 2,188 mm during the same period.

In October, from Oct. 1 to Oct. 31, Mysuru registered 131 mm of rainfall against the normal 144.5 mm. Mandya saw 189.5 mm, exceeding the normal 153.6 mm, and Kodagu District recorded 185.3 mm, slightly below the normal 196.8 mm.

Between Jan. 1, 2024 and Nov. 8, 2024, Mysuru accumulated 904 mm of rainfall, exceeding the normal 794 mm. Mandya recorded 776 mm, surpassing the normal 661 mm, and Kodagu received 2,967 mm, above the average 2,668 mm.

Calling land owners

Mysuru, Nov. 10- The State-owned Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited (KPTCL) has proposed to set up a 220 KV Receiving Station and a 66/11 Transmission Centre in H.D. Kote Taluk, for which it intends to purchase lands in the taluk.

The KPTCL is looking for direct purchase of a minimum of 10-12 acres of land that adjoins the main road near or around H.D. Kote for the establishment of the receiving station and 2-3 acres of land adjoining the main road in or around Yelemathur village in the taluk for the establishment of the Transmission Centre.

The interested land owners can contact KPTCL Engineers: M.M. Preetham (94482-71524), Rajesh (94480-12526), Vinodkumar Singh (94483-65383) and Kiran (94808-13912).

Problem of plenty: Three bus shelters in one spot!

Two bus shelters next to each other on Temple Road in Jayalakshmipuram near St. Joseph's School.

While this initiative funds infrastructure, residents pointed out that contractors are prioritising advertising revenue over the city's visual appeal.

"Can the MCC limit it to one shelter per location and remove outdated structures?" a resident asked. "This would help reduce clutter and preserve the city's beauty," added another.

Residents are urging the MCC to reconsider this approach, allowing only one well-maintained shelter at each stop to protect Mysuru's charm amidst the growing advertising boom.

Meanwhile, several city roads, especially in Bannimantap, remain in poor condition. Residents question if the authorities could focus more on road repairs and asphalting rather than redundant bus shelters.

"To help the public and drivers, who are often left confused about where to wait, it would make sense to retain only one new shelter and remove the old ones. This would streamline usage and preserve the city's aesthetic," Mirza added.

We little knew the day that
God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same,

It broke our hearts to lose you
But you didn't go alone.
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home

You left peaceful memories
Your love is still our guide,
And though We cannot see you
You are always at our side.

Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one the chain will link again.

From your loving family

A very graceful and dignified retirement

Just two days ago, I read that K. Satchidanandan, the noted Malayalam writer, poet, critic and translator, has announced that he would be gradually withdrawing from public life, out of his own volition.

This very popular and much sought after orator and the present Chairperson of the Kerala Sahitya Akademi has been a leading luminary on the very rich and verdant landscape of Malayalam literature and has published more than twenty collections of poetry, on themes related to love, nature and social justice and his works have earned him many major honours.

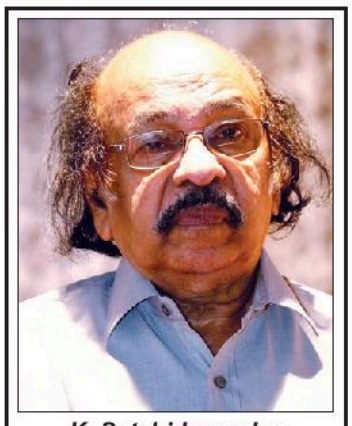
His works have been widely translated too and as far as my knowledge goes, almost all of them have been translated into English, with copies being available easily. He has also published a book titled Signatures, which is a compendium of the works of a hundred Indian poets, from across the country.

The book, which is an anthology of about four hundred very carefully curated poems from twenty Indian languages, is a real treasure trove for lovers of poetry and literature. It is not unlike the Anthology of Modern Indian Poetry, compiled by Vinay Dharwadkar and A.K. Ramanujan, which again is an outstanding compilation.

The reason that Satchidanandan, the doyen of Malayalam literature, has given for his unusual decision at the age of 78, which can actually be called the most productive age for any writer, is that he could sense his memory and other mental faculties becoming weaker and weaker, with each passing day.

It appears he has been on treatment, on and off, for failing memory over the past few years and his doctors have told him that this was an irreversible change that could very likely become progressive and worsen over the coming years.

It is therefore his desire to say good-bye to his writing and public appearances where he would be expected to speak, well before he makes a mess of what he writes and speaks.



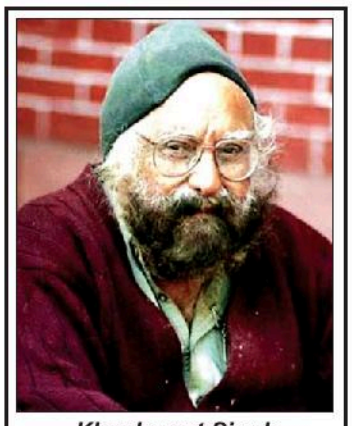
K. Satchidanandan

Noted Malayalam writer K. Satchidanandan wants to stop while his image of what he is and has been is still intact in people's minds. This decision that he has taken is a very sane and sensible one, which a great many of our public figures desperately need to take, but do not...

So, he wants to stop while his image of what he is and has been, is still intact in people's minds. A big hand from the doctor in me, to a rare person who has chosen to give a serious thought to what his doctor thinks!

This decision that he has taken is a very sane and sensible one, which a great many of our public figures desperately need to take, but do not. The rich literary legacy he would be leaving behind, would be more than enough for his admirers.

At a time when most people in service dread the mandatory retirement that they just cannot escape, when the age of superannuation arrives, retiring voluntarily, while they can continue to be doing what they think they do best, is simply unthinkable to most of us! That is why we very often see once good writers slowly beginning to write nonsense, when they fail to stop before complete senility overtakes them and their mental faculties.



Khushwant Singh

Late Khushwant Singh, who almost turned a hundred, before calling it a day, undoubtedly wrote with a wry smile, even as he was exhaling his last breath, but the ink in his pen had turned from venom to plain water, a very long time before he finally chose to put it down...

There was a time when I used to admire some regular writers for the fluency and clarity of their thoughts and their sense of humour too, only to dread reading the tripe they began turning out as they grew older and yet continued to scribble away, without a thought to what they were writing. My most notable example is one of my most loved writers, the late Khushwant Singh, the sardar who sat in his famous glass light bulb and yet pelted stones at all those who lived outside!

Many of you may wonder why, of all writers, I admired this man who wrote mostly gossip all his life, but I am not ashamed to admit that I enjoyed his style of writing and the readability of what he was not ashamed to write. I admired the richness of his contacts and experiences in his long public life and his candid and unrepentant style of narrating them.

While many people have lives full of rich experiences, they just do not have the ability to narrate them well. And many of those who can narrate well, have just no stories to narrate. To be a good storyteller you need to have both these resources and this rare man had them both, in ample measure!

Now, coming to gossip, whether we admit it or not, most of us do enjoy reading it. It is just that most of us do not admit what we perceive as our guilt. But the few who do, calling ourselves lovers of literature, do so after taking shelter under the dignified excuse that whatever, good or bad, if written well, deserves to be appreciated. And, it takes a little courage to make a public admission of this weakness, which most of us lack! The sardar who almost turned a hundred, before calling it a day, undoubtedly wrote with a wry smile, even as he was exhaling his last breath, but the ink in his pen had turned from venom to plain water, a very long time before he finally chose to put it down.

That is why his later writings were just strained ramblings and random thoughts, hastily and sketchily penned down, only to meet editors' deadlines and also perhaps to let his readers know that his heart was still beating.

And, coming to the topic of retiring from public life before it is too late, our politicians take the cake, when what they need to take are a few lessons. I am not talking of just our home brewed ones but also the many world leaders of today who believe in holding on to the power that intoxicates them, while they make a complete mess of the lives of those whom they rule.

We fret and fume and laugh and cry, over what they say and what they do, day after day and yet we continue to let them do it, by electing them to power, year after year. That's only because we are also a unique breed, that refuses to learn from our past, for which we continue to pay a very steep price, in our present!

Minister and Congress leader's financial feud turns violent

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (BCT)- A brawl broke out between an influential Minister and a senior Congress leader at a private hotel in Mysuru on Friday night, setting tongues wagging throughout the political corridors.

The cause? A financial dispute that took an ugly turn in full public view. After a loud exchange, the altercation between the two leaders, both from a neighbouring district, became a hot topic in the city.

The Minister had reportedly promised the Congress leader a large sum of money for supporting their party's candidate during the last Legislative Council elections. The Minister had paid a part of the money in advance.

Though the Congress candidate secured a victory in the Legislative Council elections, the Minister allegedly failed to honour the full financial commitment and began dodging the Congress leader's calls. This move only stoked the simmering resentment.

On Friday night, at a private event hosted by a Mandya politician at a hotel in Mysuru, the two leaders came face to face. The two, old allies with a friendship spanning decades, initially sat down to talk. During their conversation, the Congress leader expressed frustration over the unfulfilled promise and the Minister's avoidance, leading to heated arguments.

The Congress leader, unable to contain his frustration, raised his voice and accused the Minister of betrayal. Angered by the public confrontation and disrespect, the Minister allegedly struck the Congress leader. Retaliating, the Congress leader punched the Minister and landed a couple of blows that added to the spectacle.

Intensifying the melee, sources say the Minister's supporters also joined in the attack and thrashed the Congress leader. Security personnel and other politicians intervened, calming the situation and escorting the Congress leader out of the hotel.

Despite the high drama and assault, no Police complaint has been filed and Congress leaders from the district have remained tight-lipped, adding to the intrigue.

Kumaraswamy makes it public

Meanwhile, Union Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy didn't waste the opportunity to stir the pot during the Channapatna by-election campaign. He pointed to this incident as proof of deeper, murkier dealings, claiming that the altercation was about more than just old debts — it was linked to the sharing of money collected from the officers after transferring them to plum posts.

Kumaraswamy expressed shock at the spectacle of a Minister being publicly assaulted, remarking that it highlighted the pathetic state of governance in the State.

DKS unearthed MUDA scam to oust Siddaramaiah: Janardhan Reddy

Mysuru, Nov. 10- Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar unearthed MUDA scam with an intention to oust Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, said MLA Janardhan Reddy.

In an interview with a private television channel yesterday, Reddy said, none of the BJP leaders or workers had applied under RTI to secure information about the MUDA scam or had tried to topple Siddaramaiah's Government. It was D.K. Shivakumar who had unearthed the MUDA scam to oust Siddaramaiah.

CM Siddaramaiah, being a stubborn person, will not step down to handover the power to the other person for which D.K. Shivakumar released the MUDA documents to remove Siddaramaiah, said Reddy. Further, taking a dig at Siddaramaiah, Reddy said CM Siddaramaiah, who claimed to be a person from a humble background, had got 14 sites from MUDA and also sought Rs. 64 crore to return the sites and now by returning the site without any compensation he (Siddaramaiah) had confessed of wrongdoing.

"It is not the question of 14 sites or Rs. 64 crore. It is a scandal worth Rs. 5,000 crore where Siddaramaiah through is accomplices has bought benami sites. With ED officials digging into the details, the site owners have confessed about benami transactions stating that they were approached by Siddaramaiah's children and brother-in-law to purchase the sites in their names only to return them in the later days," he said.

Allegations of collecting money from trainees

Complaint sent to DG&IGP against KARP Commandant

Snehamayi Krishna

Mysuru, Nov. 10 (BLU&BCT)- RTI activist Snehamayi Krishna has written to the Director General & Inspector General of Police (DG&IGP) Dr. Alok Mohan, urging legal action against Shailendra Kumar, Commandant of the Karnataka Armed Reserve Police (KARP) Mounted Company in Mysuru, for allegedly extorting money from trainees.

According to the complaint, Shailendra Kumar ordered the collection of Rs. 500 per month from each of the 224 band trainees assigned to KARP, who were divided into five sections. A trainee from each section was tasked with collecting money from their peers.

Snehamayi Krishna's complaint further claims that V. Mahesh, a Constable from the 2nd Battalion in Belagavi (No. 15), was responsible for collecting the funds from all sections and handing it over to Stanley Kiran of the English Band, who then passed the money on to Shailendra Kumar.

A WhatsApp group for each section was allegedly created for this purpose. Along with the complaint, Snehamayi Krishna has provided an audio recording of the conversations in these groups, which could serve as evidence in an investigation.

While some trainees made payments via UPI apps, others paid in cash, alleged the complaint. Bank records related to Constable Mahesh's account, which was used for collecting the money, may offer additional proof, the letter to the DGP said.

The complaint also alleges that Shailendra Kumar instructed the trainees to pay Rs. 2,000 each to receive their completion certificates after passing the probation period. Those who failed to pay were reportedly denied certificates, the complaint stated.

In light of these allegations, Snehamayi Krishna has called for a preliminary inquiry and the registration of a case against Shailendra Kumar, urging swift legal action to address corruption within the Police Department.

WORD OF THE DAY

Psephology

Pronunciation: see-FAH-luh-jee (noun)
Meaning: Psephology is the scientific study of elections.
Origin: Psephology comes from the Greek word "psēphos," meaning "pebble." (One relative of psephology is psephomancy, meaning "divination by pebbles.") Psephology merited election as the name for the work of election analysts, or psephologists, because pebbles were used by the ancient Greeks in voting. Similarly, the word ballot was an excellent choice for a means of voting since it comes from ballotta, an Italian word meaning "little ball," and Italians once voted by placing such balls in a container.
Example: "The high school-aged participants of the program partake in various aspects of psephology, from gaining support early in a campaign to debating fellow candidates." — James Barberis, The Tallahassee (Florida) Democrat, 28 Sept. 2020.

THE ODD WORD

Amaxophobia

Fear of riding in a car.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

To hear something straight from the horse's mouth

Meaning: The phrase 'To hear something straight from the horse's mouth' means that you heard the information from someone who has personal knowledge on the spoken matter.
Origin: The phrase 'To hear something straight from the horse's mouth' is the exact opposite from the phrase 'Heard it on the grapevine.'
Example: "I don't believe it that she did it. I'm going to go to ask her and hear it straight from the horse's mouth."

QUOTE BOX

Bad officials are the ones elected by good citizens who do not vote.

—George Jean Nathan

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Concept is Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
